Instrument Act, 1881 against the convict appellants. He further submits that earlier another cases were filed against the convict appellants and they were compromised with the complainant respondent No. 2 and paid the cheque amount but in this case the convict appellants did not take any step to pay the cheque money in favour of the complainant and trying to delay disposal of the case. Accordingly, he submits that the appeal may be dismissed for ends of justice.

Mrs. Anjuman Ara Begum and Mr. Miah Sirajul Ialam, the learned Assistant Attorney Generals appearing on behalf of the respondent-State adopted the submissions made by the learned Advocate appearing on behalf of the complainant respondent No. 2. Accordingly, they submit that the appeal may be dismissed for ends of justice.

Heard the learned Advocate of complainant respondent No. 2 and Assistant Attorney Generals for the state, perused material on records, including the deposition of the witness and other material referred to above. It appears that the Sessions Judge, Chandpur, in Sessions Case No. 361 of 2018 arising out of C.R Case No. 186 of 2017 (Chandpur Sadar). An agreement was made the convict appellants and the complainant respondent No. 2 for the purpose of business borrowed an amount of Tk. 7,00,000/- (seven lac). The convict appellants issued jointly signed cheque in favour of the complainant's husband being Cheque No. IBV 5936405, dated 28.11.2016 at Tk. 7,00,000/- with the Islami Bank Bangladesh Limited. The cheque was presented the bank for encashment but the cheque was dishonored due to insufficient fund. The complainant issued a legal notice to the convict appellants but the convict appellants did not pay the cheque money. The complainant has been able to prove his case beyond reasonable doubt. The Sessions Judge, Chandpur after hearing on consideration of the evidence on record and the real facts of the case convicted the convict appellants under section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 and sentenced them to suffer rigorous imprisonment for period of 06 (six) months and also to pay a fine of Tk.7,00,000/-.

On critical analysis of the aforesaid evidence on records, It transpires that the convict appellants issued cheque of at Tk. 7,00,000/- in favour of the complainant respondent No. 2. The complainant presented the cheque to the bank for encashment but the cheque was dishonored due to insufficient fund. The complainant sent a legal notice to pay the cheque money but the convict appellants did not response to pay the cheque money. The Sessions Judge, Chandpur after hearing on consideration of the evidence on record and the real facts of the case rightly convicted the convict appellants under section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 and sentenced them to suffer rigorous imprisonment for period of 06 (six) months and also to pay a fine of Tk.7,00,000/-.

So, in all fairness, the complainant has been able to prove the case beyond reasonable doubt. The Sessions Judge, Chandpur after hearing on consideration of the evidence on records rightly convicted and sentenced the convict appellants which is just and sustainable in law which deserves no interference by this court.

I have gone through the privilege that the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 11.03.2019 and I have reason to believe that the Sessions Judge, Chandpur rightly discuss the evidence of witnesses and also righty apply its judicial mind.

Considering the above facts and circumstances of the case as well as evidence on record, I hold and find that the Sessions Judge, Chandpur after hearing rightly convicted the convict appellants under section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 and sentenced them to suffer rigorous imprisonment for period of 06 (six) months and also to pay a fine of Tk.7,00,000/- is hereby maintained.

In the result, the Criminal Appeal No. 1504 of 2022 is hereby dismissed.
